| Tulum archaeological zone

| We will visit Tulum, formerly called Zamá, it was a walled city of the Mayan culture located in the State of Quintana Roo, in the southeast of Mexico, on the coast of the Caribbean Sea.

Sources from the 16th century designate the site as “Zamá”, which in Mayan means “morning” or “dawn”. The name of Tulum is relatively recent, and translates as “wall” or “palisade”, alluding to the wall that stands here preserves.

At present it is a great tourist attraction of the Riviera Maya and next to it, the modern population of the same name, Tulum. The city is located within the so-called Tulum National Park.

| Swim with turtles in Akumal

| We will swim in Akumal, where you will have the opportunity to meet the best place to dive with turtles in Mexico while enjoying the warm Caribbean waters and its white sand beaches.

Akumal means land of the turtles in Mayan language.

Three species of turtles come to feed in the bay: the green turtle, the loggerhead turtle and the hawksbill turtle. You can swim on your own in the waters that are not protected but you are unlikely to see turtles in these waters, since it is not a feeding area. Going with a guide will allow to see many more turtles and support the cooperatives that work to preserve the environment.
